Refereed Journal Articles

Young, S., & Berlan, D. G. (submitted). Public vs Private Engagement Motivations: An Analysis of What Motivates Professionals to Join Associations by Sector. Voluntary Sector Review. Manuscript submitted for publication, 36 pages.

Invited to submit a revision in December 2019, revisions currently being completed to resubmit in March of 2020.

Min, N., Shen, R., Berlan, D., & Lee, K. (2019). How Organizational Identity Affects Hospital Performance: Comparing Predictive Power of Mission Statements and Sector Affiliation. Public Performance and Management Review, 29. doi:10.1080/15309576.2019.1684958

Study examines impact of hospital identity in terms of mission content and sector on divergent measures of performance.

Berlan, D., Shen, R., & Klay, W. E. (2019). The History and Evolution of the Southeastern Conference for Public Administration. Journal of Public and Nonprofit Affairs, 5(1), 6-20. Retrieved from <http://jpna.org/index.php/jpna/article/view/182> doi:<https://doi.org/10.20899/jpna.5.1.6-20>

Study examines the history of a conference through analysis of its conference proceedings and highlights critical changes in participant composition and presentation topics over time.

Mitchell, G., & Berlan, D. (2018). Evaluation in Nonprofit Organizations: An Empirical Analysis. Public Performance & Management Review, 41(2), 415-437. Retrieved from <https://www.tandfonline.com/doi/abs/10.1080/15309576.2017.1400985> doi:10/1080/15309576.2017.1400985

Combines survey and IRS form 990 data to analyze relationships between organizational characteristics and different aspects of nonprofit evaluation. Finds counter-intuitive relationships between executive compensation and aspects of evaluation, positive relationships with staff pay, and evaluation culture to serve a critical mediating role for other variables.

Quissell, K., Berlan, D., Shiffman, J., & Walt, G. (2018). Explaining global network emergence and non-emergence: Comparing the processes of network formation for tuberculosis and pneumonia. Public Administration and Development, 38, 144-153. Retrieved from <https://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/doi/abs/10.1002/pad.1836> doi:10.1002/pad.1836

Accepted for publication in August of 2018. This article compares the evolution of networks for tuberculosis and childhood pneumonia in order to advance theoretical understanding of how voluntary networks emerge.

Berlan, D. (2018). Understanding nonprofit missions as dynamic and interpretative conceptions. Nonprofit Management & Leadership, 28(3), 413-422. Retrieved from <https://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/doi/abs/10.1002/nml.21295> doi:10.1002/nml.21295

Proposes and illustrates examples of two new conceptualizations of nonprofit mission, personal and dominant conceptions. These new concepts allow for different ways to examine nonprofit mission and provide implications for nonprofit management practice.

Shiffman, J., Quissell, K., Schmitz, H. P., Pelletier, D., Smith, S. L., Berlan, D. G., Gneiting, U., Van Slyke, D., Mergel, I., & Walt, G. (2016). A Framework on the Emergence and Effectiveness of Global Health Networks: Introductory paper for journal supplement on the emergence and effectiveness of global health networks. Health Policy & Planning, 31, i3-i16. Retrieved from https://academic.oup.com/heapol/article/31/suppl\_1/i3/2404374
doi:10.1093/heapol/czu046

This is a paper laying out a theoretical framework and approach for studying global health networks. It serves as the lead article for a special issue on these networks and was written by the authors of each of the six case studies and others engaged in the larger project.

Mitchell, G. E., & Berlan, D. (2016). Evaluation and Evaluative Rigor in the Nonprofit Sector. Nonprofit Management and Leadership, 27(2), 237-250. Retrieved from <http://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/doi/10.1002/nml.21236/full> doi:10.1002/nml.21236

Through a national survey of nonprofit organizations, this article examines barriers and catalysts for rigorous evaluation of performance. It finds intrinsic motivations for evaluation, such as an organizational culture supportive of evaluation, outweigh extrinsic motivations, such as donor demands.

Berlan, D. (2016). Pneumonia's Second Wind? A Case Study of the Global Health Network for Childhood Pneumonia. Health Policy & Planning, 31, i33-i47. Retrieved from https://academic.oup.com/heapol/article/31/suppl\_1/i33/2404447 doi:10.1093/heapol/czv070

This article tracing the history of efforts to form a global network focusing on child pneumonia. It illustrates the importance of building a shared identity and that network structures serve as a necessary factor in order to access opportunities that arise.

Shiffman, J., Schmitz, H. P., Berlan, D., Smith, S. L., Quissell, K., Gneiting, U., & Pelletier, D. (2016). The emergence and effectiveness of global health networks: findings and future research. Health Policy and Planning, 31, i110-i123.
